Resort To Force Possible, Say Spanish Exiles

NEW YORK (AP) — The Security Council's subcommittee on Spain weighed today a challenging suggestion from Spanish Republicans that they and unspecified allies might seek to overthrow the Franco regime by force unless the United Nations take action against Franco as a threat to world peace.

Premier Jose Giral of the exiled Spanish Republican leadership indicated the Republicans inside and outside Spain were ready to start the fight with ample support in the event the U.N. refused to intervene.

"The Spanish people and the government I represent feel we are sufficently assisted to consider ourselves capable of overthrowing the tyranny," Giral told the subcommittee Monday night. "We will not be lacking in friendly countries nor aids of every sort.

". . . if this supreme hope for peace which we deposit in the international society should disappear, only the roads of violence, to our regret, would remain open to us."

SPEEDING UP

The subcommittee—newly headed by External Affairs Minister Herbert Evatt of Australia—speeded up its schedule in an effort to meet the Friday deadline for a report on which the Security Council hopes to determine whether, as charged by Poland, Franco is a menace to peace.

Truman May Lose Huge Labor Vote Union Head Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Big United States unions, boiling with political wrath for President Truman, dropped oblique hints today that they might switch to another standard-bearer, with Commerce Secretary Henry A Wallace and Senator Claude Pepper, Dem., Fla., heading the list of acceptables.

There was no immediate action of a concrete nature, but three powerful labor organizations kept up a heavy drumfire of criticism on the program Mr. Truman proposed Saturday for coping with strikes in vital industries during the reconversion period.

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in a telegram to all senators contended that "in a moment of wild hysteria an attempt is being made to stampede through Congress legislation which has as its sole aim the destruction of the labor movement of this nation."

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor denounced the bill as advocating "slave labor under fascism."

As the two big unions hit out at Mr. Truman's proposals, the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) wired Mr. Murray urging he take "immediate steps" for "joint action by all organized labor" to defeat the program, which would empower the government to draft those who strike against the government.

The union attacks came after A. F. Whitney, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said his union stands ready to pour millions into coming campaigns not only to defeat Congressmen voting for Mr. Truman's emergency strike program but also to defeat Mr. Truman in 1948.

The National Farmers' Union joined in the fray to assail the emergency program as "naked, open fascism," and called the situation "a shameful hour in American history."

The National Citizens' Political Action Committee also condemned the program as "totalitarian" and urged the Senate to reject it.

Paris Has Not Yet Solved Travel Difficulties

France is still far from being the ideal land for world tourists, what with the high cost of meals and the uncertainty of hotel accommodations and of transportation. Even getting into and out of Paris these days is frequently a task of great difficulty. The family shown above sat up all night outside the Gare Montparnasse to be the first to board a train on which they had reservations (after a four-day wait) and permission to travel (after standing in line 36 hours).

Hope To Avert Drastic Steps By Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Lister Hill, Dem., Ala., deputy administration leader, today predicted an end of the coal strike within the next 48 hours."

Senator Hill told a reporter he had talked with "parties on both sides" and that he understood all "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident," he said, "that unless something very unforeseen occurs, the coal strike will be settled and announcement of the settlement made within the next 48 hours."

Senator Hill made his statement after a conference between John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Krug looking toward a strike settlement had been postponed for more than three hours because neither side "was ready" for the next move in the negotiations.

The explanation of the postponement was offered by Krug's office after a four-man union delegation had showed up without Mr. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers.

TALKED 20 MINUTES

The U.M.W. group, headed by U.M.W. vice-president John J. O'Leary, spent 20 minutes in the secretary's office.

A spokesman for Krug told reporters the four union officials talked with Vice-Admiral Ben Morreell, deputy coal mine administrator, about "alleged discrimination" in the operation of the mines.

There was no elaboration of this, but the spokesman said O'Leary had drawn the admiral's attention to "a couple of incidents" in which the miners claimed discrimination. The government has been in control of the bituminous mines for a week.

The meeting between Krug and Lewis was moved from 10 a.m., C.S.T., to 1.15 p.m.

All signs pointed to an early agreement as the two ended a conference Monday night.

COUNSEL AT WORK

Encouraging evidence was the fact that union counsel were called in to work on the legal points of proposals under discussion—something that rarely happens unless the rough draft of a contract has been blocked out.

Despite this new hope, the bituminous mines still stood idle. The coal supply of the U.S. shrank hourly toward the danger point.

The feeling here was that a break in the two-month-old strike was inescapable, but the general expectation was that success of a new contract would produce it without the necessity for more drastic government intervention.

Fishermen Vote To Reject Prices

VANCOUVER (CP)—Salmon fishermen along the B.C. coast have voted "overwhelmingly" to reject prices offered by canners for the 1946 catch, it was announced here today by W. Rigby, secretary-treasurer of the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers' Union (C.I.O.) He said no salmon fishing for canning would begin until agreements have been signed with the canners.

Prairies Need Rain

OTTAWA (CP)—General rains are needed "almost immediately" in the prairie provinces to prevent deterioration of crops, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported this afternoon in the second of a series of telegraphic summaries covering crop conditions.

Floods Kill 6

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Raging flood waters of the Susquehanna River swept through north-central Pennsylvania and southern New York today, damaging millions of dollars worth of property and causing at least six reported deaths. Officials at Harrisburg said two persons were reported killed and six others missing in the Tioga-Lycoming counties area hit by a cloudburst Monday.

Fatality Probed

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—Police were investigating today the fatal shooting of William Winquest, 68, during a farewell before his departure for Sweden to visit his 90-year-old mother. Winquest, who sold his tourist camp a short time ago, died in hospital Sunday, several hours after the shooting. A bullet from a German Luger pistol lodged near his heart.

21,000 Alberta Farmers Discuss Possibility Of Delivery Strike

EDMONTON (CP)—Feasibility of a non-delivery strike by 24,000 farmer members of the Alberta Farmers' Union was under consideration by the union executive meeting today, as a protest against the recent increase in the price of farm machinery.

Union Secretary J. J. Boutillier said a committee of three, appointed some time ago to work in conjunction with the executive on the protest proposal, probably would report to the executive in closed meeting today.

The committee is composed of Ken Long of Spring Coulee, Alta., representing the south; A. Hadland of Baldonnel, B.C., representing the north, and Jack Nelenka of Warwick, Alta., representing the central region. They already have investigated the effect of such a holdout strike in their districts.

The executive, which began its meeting late Monday, appointed a committee to work out a plan for a "farmers' holiday" June 21 in which farmers would take a holiday and gather in their community halls for dances and other entertainment. Plans call for a hook up of four Alberta radio stations in Edmonton, Lethbridge and Grande Prairie over which a special program would be given.

Mr. Boutillier said this action had nothing to do with the strike. The union felt there should be a day set aside each year as a farmers' holiday and the action had the approval of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The date would be observed in other provinces.

Chiang Lays Down Terms For Peace

NANKING (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, his position strengthened by government troop advances in Manchuria, was reported today to have laid down terms which Chinese Communists must meet as a prerequisite to further talks on ending the civil war in the great northeast territory.

The extreme right-wing Kuomintang (National Party) newspaper Ta Kang Pao said the generalissimo had advised Gen. George C. Marshall, special United States envoy to China, that the Communists must recognize government sovereignty in Manchuria and help restore its communications as a precondition to new peace talks.

Empire Press Union To Tour Battlefields

Halls, Tents Sought To House Thousands Of Strikers Invading Victoria Monday

Striking International Woodworkers of America local headquarters here today began to comb Victoria for large halls, cots, tents, blankets, and all the other equipment necessary to house and feed several thousand woodworkers who will march on Victoria next Monday.

Aim of the march, which will begin at the large logging and sawmill centres at the Albernis and Courtenay, will be to seek intervention in the dispute between the striking woodworkers and the operators by the British Columbia government.

Trade unionists of other unions, farm, veterans' and community organizations at the invitation of the I.W.A. have been asked to join in the lobby.

The I.W.A.'s new move is based on the assertion that the provincial government has taken no stand in the dispute except to call the strike illegal and that the government should "compel the operators to meet the just demands of the union."

Actually in the march the strikers plan to rely heavily on automotive transportation. Trucks and cars will be used to bring strikers down from up-island centres while mainland woodworkers will be brought to Victoria by fishboat and other craft.

The vanguard, to complete arrangements for accommodating the mass lobby and to complete tentative proposals for government action, will arrive in Victoria Monday, with more and more strikers expected daily as the week proceeds.

SPEED ARRANGEMENTS

Local 1-118 of the I.W.A., representing 700 woodworkers in Victoria today began to rush arrangements for the mass lobby.

John Wainscott, secretary of the local, who Monday in Vancouver talked over with district union officers the trek, said the union here would try to secure several large halls to accommodate the strikers. In these cots would be set up if they are available. If not the strikers will sleep on the floor.

Mr. Wainscott also indicated tents would be sought to house strikers. They will be set wherever convenient, he suggested.

Some of the marchers may be billeted in homes here but the union local officers believe it will be quite impossible to find enough homes to quarter the thousands of strikers expected.

The difficult problem of feeding the group has not yet been worked out. Soup kitchens will probably be set up.

Here in Victoria a committee to look after the accommodating and feeding of the lobby was set up Monday night. Composed of eight men, it met again today. Members of the committee are: R. Fairservice, E. Sced, D. J. Bosma, S. Moulton, R. Simmons, W. L. Guernsey, A. Selsridge and A Brighton.

Pearson Says I.W.A. Mass Lobby Will Injure Cause Of Union

The striking woodworkers' projected mass lobby on the provincial government here next week was described by Labor Minister George S. Pearson today as injurious to the cause of the union and unacceptable to the people of the province.

Mr. Pearson said:

"If this demonstration is a threat it is a very serious thing indeed. These people are apparently making themselves a law unto themselves.

"They appear to want the British Columbia government to take the nation's law into its own hands, too.

"It does not seem to me the people of this province will accept this attitude as the right one. If we are going to accept it, we are heading for a state of anarchy in this country.

"I say plainly the union is injuring its cause. If the law had been observed in the first place we should not have reached this pass."

Canadian Officer Slain In His Room In Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO (AP)—Lt.-Col. John F. Fletcher, 46, a Canadian army educational officer on leave from Vancouver, was shot to death in his hotel room Monday night and Police Capt. Jerome Looney said Donald R. Murray, 41, Chicago salesman, was held for questioning in connection with the slaying.

Capt. Looney said Murray's wife, Doris, 36, was in Lt.-Col. Fletcher's room when the shooting was done. He said Murray and Fletcher, a former bandmaster and teacher in the Elgin, Ill., high school, had been friends more than 20 years. No formal charge was placed against Murray.

Police summoned to the skyscraper hotel near midnight said Fletcher, father of three daughters and estranged from his wife, a mathematics teacher at suburban Wheaton Academy, had been shot four times. The officer, clad in a bathrobe, fell across the bed and died instantly. Capt. Looney said Murray handed investigating officers a .32 calibre pistol.

William J. Terrell, a lawyer, said Fletcher and Mrs. Murray recently conferred with him separately about divorce suits.

At Ottawa, Defence Headquarters officials said Lt.-Col. Fletcher enlisted in the Canadian army in 1942 and served overseas in an administrative capacity before joining the staff of the Khaki College at Leavesden, England. He returned to Canada last May 13 and was on disembarkation leave at the time of the shooting.

2 Great Lakes Ships Sail Despite Crewmen's Strike

By Canadian Press

Owners of Great Lakes ships, officers of the Canadian Seamen's Union and government authorities assembled today in Ottawa in an effort to settle the two-day-old strike of lake seamen, as trouble flared on Toronto docks and crews of additional freighters joined the strike.

Two Canada Steamship Lines freighters, the Kinmount and the Grainmotor, sailed from Kingston, Ont., harbor with a non-union crew aboard and headed for Montreal. Two other C.S.L. ships—the Mapleheath and the Barrie — carrying non-union crews lay at anchor at that port, awaiting orders.

POLICE ON WATERFRONT

Police cars cruised the Toronto waterfront after an outbreak of trouble between striking and non-striking seamen. The C.S.U. reported "five or six" striking crew members from the C.S.L. passenger steamship Kingston had been arrested. Police said five C.S.U. members were arrested when strike pickets swarmed over a fence toward an automobile which they though was carrying non-striking seamen to man ships tied up in the harbor.

The union claimed 70 ships had been tied up by the strike and several others were anchored at various ports with their captains apparently under order to keep crews aboard. Only 15 ships of the lake fleets remain in operation, a union spokesman said.

PROSPECTS GLOOMY

Prospects for the Ottawa meeting were not bright. It was preceded by an acrimonious exchange of telegrams Monday between federal Labor Minister Mitchell and J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, president of the Seamen's Union who has set up strike headquarters in Toronto.

The government also received strongly-worded telegrams of protest from various unions against the arrest of striking seamen. Reports to the Canadian Press showed 48 had been arrested from Montreal to the head of the lakes, and the strike headquarters said warrants had been issued for another 45.

The arrests were made under a clause of the Canada Shipping Act providing penalties for "absence without leave" from vessels — or desertion. Provincial police were present in force at Thorold, where 30 seamen were arrested, and R.C.M.P. officers were stationed at Cornwall.

Eight had been taken into custody at Montreal, seven at Kingston and three at Fort William. The 30 arrested at Thorold were moved from the picket lines to the county jail at Welland Monday night where they were remanded in custody for one week.

CLAIMS AT VARIANCE

Those arrested were only a fraction of the men on strike. The union claimed 61 ships had been tied up from Montreal to the lakehead. The owners asserted only 17 out of 115 ships had been anchored by the strike. The owners were recruiting any available men to replace strikers.

George R. Donovan of Toronto, secretary of the Dominion Marine Association and spokesman for the ship operators, charged the union had broken its contract, which still had to run to July 31.

Sullivan countered that it was the operators who broke the contract not the union. He wired federal Labor Minister Mitchell that the operators had violated the contract by refusing to allow a union delegate to board a vessel in Montreal; by dismissing union crewmen; by making a separate application to the National War Labor Board on questions of wages and hours before the contract had expired, and by reclassifying ratings before getting the Labor Board's permission.

An estimated 13 ships were reported tied up at various points along the Welland Canal; half a dozen more at Cornwall. Other vessels were scattered at ports all along the Great Lakes.

Grain Ship Meets Delay At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—First effects of the lumber strike on ships loading grain for Europe were felt in this port today.

The British freighter Empire Celia, scheduled to load grain for the United Kingdom, is stalled because of a lack of lumber required to line the sides of her hold to prevent her bulk grain cargo from shifting.

Although Canadian loading regulations require that shipping boards be used, Capt. H. A. Johnson, the ship's master, is attempting to get government permission to replace the lumber with sacks of grain.

Susquehanna Flood Isolates Large Part Of Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., (AP)—Raging flood waters of the Susquehanna River today covered a fifth of the residential areas of this city of 45,000 persons as railroad and most highway communications were cut by high water.

The flood, caused by four days of heavy rains which culminated in a cloudburst Monday, reached a stage of 27.5 feet at 8.30 a.m., five and one half feet above flood stage, with a crest of 35 feet predicted.

In the disastrous 1936 flood which damaged millions of dollars worth of property and made thousands in central Pennsylvania homeless, the flood waters reached 33.6 feet here.

With highways to the north and west already cut and other roads about to be covered by the rapidly rising waters, persons living in low-lying sections were moved to higher parts of the city with prospects of a third of the town being inundated or cut off.

Flood waters inundated scores of towns in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York and left in their wake two known dead and hundreds homeless.

Drowned were Charles Gilmore and Richard Bowman, two farmers from Mill Hall, Pa., near Lock Haven, sucked into the swollen waters of Fishing Creek while trying to clear debris from a factory dam.

Property damage in northern and western Pennsylvania was estimated at more than $500,000. From other points, damages expected to be in the thousands, still were to be reported.

Telephone and telegraph communications in some communities were severed by racing, rising waters.

Sloan Hearings Will Move To Victoria On Wednesday

The third phase of negotiations before Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan to end the 14-day-old strike of 35,000 B.C. woodworkers will continue in Victoria Wednesday.

The union is presenting its case to the Chief Justice today in Vancouver. The operators' case will be presented in Victoria, probably by R. V. Stuart, president of Stuart Research Service Ltd., professional negotiators for 147 of the largest operators of the province coast region.

The first phase of the negotiations of the Chief Justice, who was appointed by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Dominion Labor Minister, was to attempt to bring the two parties together. This attempt the day before the strike was effected failed.

Last Wednesday, Chief Justice Sloan was reappointed as a mediator.

Now he is hearing the union and the operators so that he may make non-binding recommendations to them on a way to settle the dispute.

In the meantime, Mr. Stuart has wired Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley, acting premier of Canada, in answer to his request made in the House of Commons that the lumber industry resume the production of boxes to save British Columbia's fruit crop.

Mr. Stuart said the employers concerned would willingly agree to immediate resumption of operations at these plants on the basis that workers be paid at rates finally incorporated in the contract now under negotiation.

From Vancouver, Harold Pritchett, district president of the I.W.A., telegraphed Mr. Ilsley that the union is "prepared to do everything humanly possible to bring about a just settlement of the strike," and urged the federal government to intervene "to force the lumber operators who stand in the way of crop harvesting to accept union's proposals on wages and hours and abide by the award of Arbitrator Sloan on union security."

He contended that employers in the woodworking industry "are fully responsible for delay in insincere efforts during nine weeks of negotiations" and in the interior "have refused to sign an agreement since 1944."

Canada To Build Monument To F.D.R.

OTTAWA (CP)—Erection of a monument in honor of the late President Roosevelt at Campobello, N.B., where he had a summer home, has been approved by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

Work on the Roosevelt monument and on two others approved this year will proceed when materials become available. The others are to mark the Prince Edward Island Home of Lucy Maud Montgomery, author of "Ann of Green Gables," and the exploration achievements of Father Jacques Marquette, discoverer of the Mississippi River. The Marquette monument will be at Boucherville, Que.

Tablets approved include one in the Parliament Buildings at Victoria to Sir James Douglas, "father" of British Columbia, and one at New Westminster, B.C., to Judge F. W. Howay, a historian and former chairman of the monuments board.

Coal Supply Here Just Meets Needs

A substantial, but not excessive amount of coal is coming to Victoria fuel dealers said today, and while it is difficult to predict whether there will be a shortage next fall, Victorians will do well to discuss their requirement with their dealers.

We have made arrangements for enough Alberta coal to cover the needs of the city," one dealer said, but if the strike in the United States should continue, and if as a result of that Alberta coal should be diverted east, then there would be a shortage. There is not sufficient coal produced on the Island to meet local requirements."

The dealer emphasized that the amount of coal reaching Victoria at present was not any greater than needed, and said it would help dealers if residents would indicate their prospective requirements as soon as possible.

Rochester Workers Ignore Leaders To Continue Strike

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Disregarding a settlement reached on higher levels, organized labor in Rochester today held a mass picketing demonstration that halted public transportation, extensive men's clothing manufacturing plants and other industries in this city of 325,000.

Anthony A. Capone, president of the Rochester Central Trades and Labor Council, said 25,000 employees had been made idle by the mass picketing five hours after it began at 5 a.m. in defiance of a settlement of a dispute with the city over unionization of public works department employees.

Shortly after 2 a.m. today it was announced simultaneously by the State Federation of Labor at Albany and City Manager Louis B. Cartwright in Rochester that the dispute had been settled through the help of Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The statement said it was agreed the city employees affected by the 13-day old dispute would return to work "without prejudice" and that they had the right to belong to any union not in favor of striking against the public. During the dispute the city "abolished" workers' jobs, but reinstated them Monday.

Local union leaders of the A.F.L. and C.I.O. disregarded the "settlement" and proceeded with the mass demonstration.

Capone predicted the demonstration would spread. "The full impact . . . will not be felt until tomorrow morning," he added.

Hotels and eating places will be permitted to remain open.

Capone said "today's demonstration is a sympathy demonstration and not a general strike."

1 In 7 Now Owns Car In B.C.

More than one British Columbian in seven now owns a car.

Statistics released today by the Motor Vehicle office of the Attorney-General's department, showed that at the end of April of this year there were 96,110 passenger motor vehicles and 30,245 commercial motor vehicles licensed to operate on the province's highways. The total, 126,355, is up 6,387 from the total number of licensed motor vehicles at the same time last year.

The statistics also showed increases during the year from 1,732 to 2,015 in the number of licensed motor cycles and from 2,834 to 4,822 in the number of licensed trailers.

At the same time the number of British Columbians licensed to drive motor vehicles has increased during the year from 140,515 to 172,445.

Vancouver Man Wins Nanaimo Shoot Title

NANAIMO — A quintette of Vancouver scattergun marksmen were included in the large representation of marksmen from other gun clubs on the island at Sunday's championship trap shooting competitions at this city's gun club grounds. And it was Jimmy Robertson, Vancouver expert, who captured the island singles title by posting a 48 out of a possible 50.

His nearest opponent was Leonard Horth of Sidney. This veteran marksman had been away from the trap ranges for 16 years, but broke 43 of 50 targets. The last round he shattered 25 straight clays. Joe Storrow with a 44 score took handicap laurels. By smashing 43 clays Jack Beban, Nanaimo "dead-eye", woundup in second place. Herb Sebine won the doubles event with a 42 and his closest opponent was Victoria's Johnny Wenger with a 41.

B class trap championship was won by Frank Denton, Nanaimo, with 47 "kills." The home team won the team shoot.

Nanaimo's Beban again crashed the honors picture. He registered a 126 to cop high aggregate honors.

Funeral Service For H. W. Bullock

GANGES—Funeral service for the late Harry Wright Bullock, 79, was held today at 2 with Archdeacon Holmes officiating.

Mr. Bullock was born in Buckinghamshire, England, and had resided at Salt Spring Island since 1894. Since then he became widely known for his lavish entertainment of visitors and his many bounties to island residents.

He brought many English boys from the Blue Coat School in London, raised them on the island and to some gave farms.

Visitors were entertained by Mr. Bullock in his home, which became famous for its oil paintings, carved fireplace, huge staircase and ornaments, the product of generations of collecting. His custom of presenting a pair of gold earrings to any girl who would have her ears pierced became widely known.

Toy Manufacturing, War-Born In Canada, Growing Industry

In an Empress Hotel room, whose toy-laden tables would have sent any youngster skittering about in ecstasy, L. C. Gardiner, representative of an eastern manufacturing company, today asserted the toy business was becoming one of Canada's big industries.

According to Mr. Gardiner, the Canadian toy industry was born in World War II, much as other industries were born because of World War I.

Then, as now, he explained, enemy countries were prevented from supplying goods at one time their exclusive field and Canada turned to manufacture her own goods of that type.

In the case of the toy industry, his firm, stopped by the war from manufacturing Christmas tree lights and wiring, turned to toys.

As he spoke, he indicated a wide variety of toys, steam shovels, dolls, walking dogs, trucks which can be assembled, taken apart and re-assembled by curious, childish fingers.

All were of wood, some carved out of blocks, others pressed from wood fibre. Metal toys, Mr. Gardiner believes, will not be seen in North America in quantity for a year, if not two years from now. Japan and Germany, once-great purveyors of children's amusements, will never stage a comeback.

England, perhaps, Mr. Gardiner said, would stage a comeback, but probably only in toy trains.

Tilts Witnessed In Commons As Government Companies Debated

OTTAWA (CP) — Reconstruction Minister Howe shouted across the floor of the Commons Monday night that he had spent $12,000,000,000 of the government's money and the first charge of dishonesty against him had come from J. W. Murphy, P.C., Lambton West, Ont.

Mr. Howe made the statement during a heated verbal spat with the opposition member after Mr. Murphy had stated that employees of the government-owned Polymer Corporation at Sarnia, Ont., were wondering if the government was efficient enough to operate the company because they were seeing trucks leave the plant with "scrap that wasn't scrap."

"That is a charge of dishonesty and on your responsibility as a member of parliament you prove it," interjected Mr. Howe.

$775,815 DOWN TO $35,602

"I will take my responsibility right now and I will give you a chance to prove it from your own records," retorted Mr. Murphy. He went on to quote figures which, he said, showed that materials bought by the corporation at $775,815 had been sold for $35,602.

Mr. Murphy said that War Assets records showed that a $325 condenser was reported to it by the Polymer Corporation. It was sold to a "disciple of shylock for $1.34.

"You are saying he is a Jew—come out and say it," interjected Mr. Howe. "If you want to make this dirty we will have it good and dirty."

Acting Chairman G. H. Golding interrupted to say it was not in order to discuss matters being dealt with by the war expenditures committee.

Mr. Howe said Mr. Murphy would be given a chance to prove his charge before a parliamentary committee where officers of the Reconstruction Department would cross-question him. "I will be there myself," said Mr. Howe.

Another unruly scene developed when Alistair Stewart, C.C.F., Winnipeg North, rose and referred to Mr. Murphy as having made a "cowardly" statement.

Arthur Smith, P.C., Calgary West, jumped to his feet on a point of order, saying that Mr. Stewart should withdraw his statement "if he has the gumption."

"I certainly hope the honorable member (Mr. Smith) will withdraw that remark," snapped the chairman.

Mr. Smith withdrew his remark and Mr. Stewart said he would withdraw his reference to Mr. Murphy, adding, "but, Mr. Chairman, you know what I mean."

INVITED BACK

Mr. Smith was on his feet again, pointing to the curtains screening the opposition lobby and shouting to Mr. Stewart: "You're a big-fellow. How about coming back there to settle it?"

Rev. E. G. Hansell, S.C., Macleod, Alta., said he was interested in hearing Mr. Smith's challenge to Mr. Stewart. Mr. Hansell said he was getting ready for a time to go out into the lobby and stand on the sidelines to watch the action. He thought for a time, too, that Mr. Stewart was going to cross the floor, throw his arms around the minister's neck and sing "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here."

FOR PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Speaking during consideration of a resolution sponsored by the Reconstruction Minister preliminary to a bill to provide for the operation and financing of government companies, Mr. Hansell said he could not get enthused over the legislation to continue Crown companies. The companies should disappear, just like other wartime controls.

The House gave first reading to a bill authorizing incorporation of the Polymer Corporation, the Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, Wartime Housing Ltd., Canadian Arsenals Ltd. and Park Steamships.

1 Killed, 12 Hurt In Train Accident

The train was carrying 203 marines from San Diego, Calif., to the Bainbridge, Md., naval station.

Molotov's Criticism Studied As Peace Talks Held In Paris

LONDON (Reuter)—The statement by Foreign Minister Molotov of the Soviet Union on the problems of great-power collaboration in framing a European peace settlement throws into sharp relief the task confronting the deputies to the Conference of Foreign Ministers, who reassembled in Paris Monday. They will continue work on preparation of the drafts of five European peace treaties, and on re-examination of outstanding questions from the Foreign Ministers' Conference.

Mr. Molotov's pronouncement strikes London observers not so much for its content—because the main lines of Russian argument were made known recently in Paris—as by its tone of blunt criticism. It is also noteworthy as a direct counter to some of the main points made by State Secretary Byrnes of the United States May 21 in his broadcast on the Paris conference. Mr. Molotov appears to seek to counter Mr. Byrnes on the following points:

1. Mr. Molotov flatly accuses an Anglo-American bloc of seeking to impose its will on the Soviet Union. Mr. Byrnes declared "we must not try to impose our will upon others, but we must make sure others do not get the impression that they can impose their will upon us."

2. Mr. Molotov once again rejects the U.S. proposal that a peace conference should be held while there still are outstanding points of divergence between the four great powers. Mr. Byrnes said "if we can not have a peace conference until the four nations agree on every subject deemed fundamental by any one of them, that will give to one member of the Council the power to stop all efforts towards peace."

3. Mr. Molotov declares the allegation that if Italy were to pay reparations to the Soviet Union out of her current production this would be "at the cost of America and Britain financing Italy" is completely groundless. This is a direct retort to Mr. Byrnes' assertion that Russia "insisted on being paid out of current production. We would have to finance such production and therefore refused to agree to the proposal."

Protest Suggested Embassy At Vatican

EDMONTON (CP)—A resolution protesting the establishing of a Canadian embassy at the Vatican was passed Monday by the resolutions committee of the Alberta United Church, at the closing sessions of the 22nd annual meeting.

The committee in making its report said the Alberta Conference of the United Church of Canada "emphatically protest any such action, believing that it would be an unwarranted recognition of one section of the religious life of Canada, and that it would make for national disunity and disturbance of the peace among our citizens."

U.S. Maritime Union Rejects Wage Offer

Striking Loggers Request Tag Day

On behalf of striking I.W.A. lumber workers, the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council and the Victoria Labor Council made a joint application to the City Council Monday for a tag-day to aid families of strikers. The request was referred to the finance committee for report.

Mayor Percy E. George, Alderman Edward Williams and Alderman R. A. C. Dewar indicated representations made by F. J. Bevis and T. A. Mitchell had satisfied them that the employers had not shown the proper spirit of co-operation in trying to get the strike settled.

The re-establishment, business and trade committee under chairmanship of Alderman B. J. Gadsden will investigate both union and operators' claims with regard to the strike and report to the council.

The 95-foot vessel, with a crew of 14, left Vancouver April 20 on the voyage via the Panama Canal. First such R.C.A.F. ship to make the trip, she will see peacetime service at the Dartmouth base, doing salvage and supply work.

NAME CALLING USELESS

ALTHOUGH UNITED STATES SECRETARY of State Byrnes obviously felt no necessity to sugar coat his report on the recent deliberations of the Council of Foreign Ministers, nothing in the text of his radio address transgresses against the diplomatic proprieties. Nobody expected him to employ the language of subterfuge in the light of international discussions on which the public of most nations is fully informed. He had every right to express his concern over the failure of this latest conference—and to give the reasons for his disappointment in plain and simple terms. And if the Soviet Union's Foreign Commissar Molotov feels it his duty to take umbrage at some of the more potent phrases which Mr. Byrnes employed to clarify those reasons, none will deny him the right; it is much better that he voice the Kremlin's official view of the present state of affairs than to take refuge behind the editorial anonymity of such organs as Izvestia or Pravda.

Nor is there anything the least ambiguous in Mr. Molotov's rejoinder to the American statesman's radio speech; the Soviet Foreign Commissar flatly charges what he calls a British-American "bloc" with waging an offensive against Russia. But he should know, as, of course, he does, that Soviet policy—or manoeuvre—in eastern Europe has likewise caused a good deal of concern in London and Washington and other Allied capitals. It could not be otherwise. As we observed in these columns last week, it is this conduct on the Kremlin's part which must lead many peace-loving people to believe that the Soviet Union, having erected her "iron curtain" to protect her western frontier, now feels sufficiently strong in the military sense to embark on a species of territorial aggrandizement. If such is not the case, and the implied charge against Moscow may be an overstatement, either Generalissimo Stalin or Mr. Molotov should find it relatively simple to clear the air. Why should Russia—which stands to gain as much as if not more than other nations by facing the turbulent condition of the world with a practical approach—desire what amounts to an indefinite delay in grappling with the peace treaties? On this aspect of the present situation The Times of London echoes the universal desire when it says:

"It is earnestly to be hoped that the four ministers, having had time for reflection and consultation with their governments, will return to Paris on June 15 with instructions sufficiently flexible to permit of agreement by a reasonable process of compromise between conflicting claims."

It was generally agreed some time ago that the need for further meetings of the "Big Three" had passed, that the Council of Foreign Ministers, and the continuous sessions of the Security Council of the United Nations would produce the right kind of instrumentality for the transition period. If, however, as the experience both in Paris and in New York would seem to demonstrate, the authority delegated to these agencies is not sufficiently elastic to achieve practical results, then the leaders of Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union should lose no time in getting together again. The future peace of the world must not be allowed to become a target for the old-fashioned diplomatic intrigue. Name calling is a schoolboy's pastime. It ill becomes adults who should be leading the world along the path of progress and contentment.

FRANCO'S FLOURISHING FASCISM

GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO turned in a repeat performance of the standard Franco speech at the opening of the second parliamentary session of his seven-year regime. As usual, the generalissimo denounced Russia, communism, Freemasonry, and outside interference. He denied that he is a dictator. He again reminded the Spanish people how happy they are, and again assured them that they are living under a government which they have freely chosen.

All that is familiar twaddle. But Franco also emphasized a couple of points that he has not stressed too strongly before. One was that Spain has no political problems to settle. The other, a warning to those who are "pushing" him from outside, was that "when one is pushed he doesn't go faster. His first impulse is to pause and then even to turn back." It is probably true that, internally, Spain has few political problems. One gathers that Franco's most militant opponents are either dead, in exile, imprisoned, or intimidated. That simplifies things for Franco, but it does not prevent Spain from being a political problem to the outside world.

As for the allusion to pushing, the generalissimo is clearly serving notice that he has no intention of liberalizing his attitude. On the contrary, he indicates that pressure will only make him turn more stubbornly from the path which most other nations would like to see Spain take. Thus Francisco Franco, favorite son of fascism, neutral ally of the Axis, protector of the Nazi faith and its practitioners, gives his answer to the United Nations. Serene and secure, he rules his little country as he pleases and defies the world to do anything about it. And Franco has good reason for his cockiness. For the major powers which dominate the United Nations are at odds over him as they are over many of the controversial issues in international affairs today. There is a general agreement that Franco was and remains an enemy, that his regime makes Spain a breeding ground of trouble, if not a "threat to international peace" by precise diplomatic definition.

Now the issue transcends the Franco government. It has become a matter of world ideology and world power. Russia protests too much about fascist Spain, too little about fascist Argentina. The United States blasts Argentina on occasion, but is content with mild remonstrances to Spain. Britain continues to play cagily. In or out of the United Nations, the real question is whether Spain shall have a Russian-type or an Anglo-American-type democracy. And that is only a phase of the larger question involving all of Europe. Until it is settled, peaceably and satisfactorily, Spain will continue to have "an authentic Spanish democracy," as Franco describes his rule. And fascism will grow stronger in fascist Spain while the great powers wrangle over definitions of democracy.

A GOOD SOLUTION

PROVIDED THE SALE IS APPROVED by the city ratepayers and the provincial cabinet, Victoria will have solved one of her unpleasant intermunicipal problems when the deal placing the Willows race track and exhibition grounds in the hands of private interests is completed. Victoria, admittedly, is no longer in the fair business. And by her withdrawal from the sponsorship of the annual display, interrupted by the war, she will save an estimated $10,000 a year, plus a renovation bill ranging from $100,000 up.

The terms of the sale, moreover, leave the question of horse racing to the new purchaser and the municipality in which the races are held. Furthermore, the British Columbia Agricultural Association is offered use of existing facilities for exhibition purposes at a purely token rent. In other words, the responsibility for the use of the plant rests squarely where it should—on the racing interests, the agricultural association and the municipality of Oak Bay. Victoria is in the happy position of being able to make a reasonable contribution to the fair, if the citizens wish to revive it, and is, at the same time, freed of the drain to which she was subject when the city was regarded as the milch cow.

The actual cash price offered for the grounds and buildings is not high. It is, however, the highest that has been bid in the open market and, in addition, the sale serves to plug a leak in the city's coffers. Such buildings as already stand and sections of the grounds are available for sports purposes if community support and municipal approval endorse policies to that effect. Victoria now has an opportunity to liquidate an important commitment and remove a fertile source of intermunicipal friction.

A PROPER COURSE

CANADIANS FAMILIAR WITH THE spectacularly successful direction given to the Dominion's war production by Hon. C. D. Howe, Reconstruction Minister, will welcome his statement in Parliament yesterday that charges regarding disposal of alleged "scrap that was not scrap" will be heard by a parliamentary committee where officers of the reconstruction department will be allowed to cross-examine those who have laid the charges. The point raised by Mr. J. W. Murphy, Progressive Conservative member for Lambton, relative to material trucked away from the Sarnia Polymer Corporation, follows criticism of a similar nature from other sources. They are such that an investigation of the question is desirable to clear the air.

It will be noted that Mr. Murphy hastened to explain that his remarks should not be interpreted as a challenge to the honesty of the Reconstruction Minister. There will be little inclination in this country to draw that inference from any statements that are made. It is important, however, that the men engaged on the job to which Mr. Howe has given his energies unsparingly be afforded a chance to reply to those who have questioned their efficiency. No government worth its salt need fear an investigation of the type proposed. Moreover, if it should be proved that criticism has arisen from irresponsible sources and cannot be justified, the citizens of this Dominion will welcome the opportunity to have the allegations disproved. When the committee conducts its hearings, Mr. Howe has stated he will be there. On the basis of his record in public life there will be no evasions when he attends.

MANY FACTORS INVOLVED

DURING THE EARLY DAYS OF THE recent conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers it became obvious that no Pacific bases would be turned over to the United States without a good deal of consideration and a suitable recognition of basic factors associated with such a deal. Both Australia and New Zealand want to know where they stand in a question of this nature. Nothing in this is intended to suggest that either of the southern Dominions would be averse to the discussion of any plans which the United States may have in mind for integrating the defence of her perimeter in the Pacific with that of Australia and New Zealand—a co-operative policy which should, of course, become part and parcel of the larger concept envisioned by the United Nations.

Walter Lippmann

MR. BYRNES AND WHAT NEXT?

AFTER MR. BYRNES'S judicious account of the disagreements in Paris, it is plainer than ever how important is the military control of a disputed place.

Mr. Molotov got nothing that he wanted out of Italy: Trieste and the better part of Venezia Giulia and the upper Isonzo are behind the so-called Morgan line on which stands a British-American army. He did not get the kind of reparations he asked—though he got a generous offer—for Italy itself is under British-American control. He got nothing out of the Italian Empire: it is occupied by the British.

We, the British and Americans, on the other hand, could not obtain what we wanted in the satellite states—chiefly, I take it, though Mr. Byrnes was not specific—a nullification of the economic imperialism which the Russians have imposed upon Romania and are trying to impose all the way up the Danube Valley including Austria. The Danube Valley, except in Austria, where we have a reasonably good foothold of our own, is behind the lines of the Red Army.

THE RUSSIANS were able to say no and did say no to our claims in the Danube Valley and the Balkans. The British were able to say no and did say no to Russian claims in the Italian Empire. The British and Americans jointly were able to say no and did say no to the Russian claims in the Italian peninsula.

This was the deadlock, which caused the conference to take a recess.

It is evident from his speech that Mr. Byrnes has considered two different ways of resolving the deadlock. The one, which was considered before he went to Paris, was for the western Allies to make separate peace treaties in case no agreement could be reached with the Russians. He has now rejected this idea, having realized—one may infer from his speech—how futile and dangerous it is.

We could conceivably offer the Italian government a separate peace. If the Italian government accepted the offer, it would probably precipitate a fierce controversy within Italy, led by the Communists but supported by a very large number of non-Communist patriots who wish to save Italy from becoming a battlefield in a Soviet-Anglo-American war.

SEPARATE TREATIES with Romania, Hungary, and Bulgaria could no doubt be proposed. But who could sign them? The puppet governments? The idea is absurd. These government would not only have to reject our offers but, having rejected them, they would of necessity make permanent the very economic arrangements we are trying to prevent.

Mr. Byrnes has rejected the idea, and has turned toward the idea of mobilizing world opinion to induce the Russians to soften up. He suggests that this be done first through a peace conference attended by the 21 principal belligerents in the European war and then later on—if that does not work—through the General Assembly of the United Nations. It is supposed by the authors of this plan that the Russians would be outvoted about 14 to 7 in the peace conference, and about 44 to 7 in the General Assembly.

THE PROPOSAL, it seems to me, is a final and last measure which is just short of war. Maybe they will work against the Soviet, but let us first make sure we are not starting something we do not know how to finish.

My own view is that the next thing to do is to give Europe and the world something new to think about, to raise new issues since we are deadlocked on these old issues. We should talk about important questions on which we are able to act, that is to say where the disputed placed are within the military orbit of the western powers. Since we cannot settle Trieste with the Russians, let us settle some questions we can settle without the Russians.

The British have made a brave beginning in India and in Egypt. If they can succeed—as they deserve to—the problem of Trieste and also of Iran will be transformed. We can afford a stalemate at Trieste if in the meantime the British can reorganize and modernize their imperial position. If at the same time we take measures to become a Mediterranean power in our own right, we can talk with the Russians about the whole problem of the Mediterranean to which Trieste is incidental.

THIS WILL TAKE time. But there is open to us a superb opportunity to put the whole German and European problem on a new and higher level. We do not need to wait for a peace conference, much less for the General Assembly, to solve the problem of the Ruhr within the framework of what would become a German federal union. Here the last word is Britain's. For she occupies the Ruhr.

We shall be able to talk much more effectively about Austria and the Danubian states if we have got behind us the fundamentals of a settlement in western Europe. Moreover, once we have Franco-British-American agreement on the Ruhr, we can put the Germans to work, considering how to make them produce for Europe and for themselves instead of having to think up devices for keeping them from producing.

THESE CONSTRUCTIVE things can be done by us without having to ask Mr. Molotov's permission. Since we can do them without his permission, it may occur to him that it would be wiser for him to join us in a western European and German settlement than to find himself on the outside looking in.

Charm is whatever Bob Hope has that delights studio audiences when there is nothing else to delight them.

Esquimalt Offers Free Ammunition In Caterpillar War

Any resident of Esquimalt in possession of a stirrup pump can apply to the engineer's department at the municipal building to secure a free supply of D.D.T. to help in the current campaign of stamping out the caterpillar menace it was decided at Monday night's meeting of the Esquimalt Council.

This action was decided following the reading of a letter from Victoria's city clerk, Frank M. Hunter, pointing out the measures being taken in the city and requesting co-operation. Councillor A. C. Wurtele started the ball rolling on the use of the chemical and a pump, noting he had seen Reeve Thomas Hadfield's son use the solution to good effect on the caterpillars.

The council decided to purchase a quantity of D.D.T. to help in the drive, although it was stressed that people should be careful in its use as it killed insects good and bad. "Do not spray flowers because it will kill the bees!" was particularly emphasized. Reeve Hadfield thought the citizens should take the menace seriously and co-operate to exterminate the "woolly crawlers."

A draft by-law of the City of Victoria, calling for creation of a five-man transportation board for Greater Victoria, and specifications of a proposed unified system of transportation, was referred to G. H. Sedger, municipal solicitor for review and report. He will then sit in at next Monday night's council meeting.

A minute's silence was observed by the council in honor of Phillip S. Going, a former Esquimalt councillor, who passed away last week.

The Reeve was appointed to attend the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities conference in Vancouver June 24 to 27, inclusive, while Miss Vera Mesher and newly-appointed municipal clerk, Archie M. Browne, were named to attend the Municipal Officers' Association conference in Victoria June 3 and 4.

W. M. Thomas was given the contract he had last year of cutting the grass of the municipality's boulevards at a cost of $2.50 an hour.

In giving highlights of the recent Victoria-Esquimalt joint health meeting, Councillor Wurtele made the remark "Esquimalt must be a much more healthy place to live in than Victoria," after noting that in April there were only two cases of infectious diseases in his district in comparison to 56 in Victoria schools and 23 others.

Australia possesses an extraordinary variety of birds, including vast flocks of brilliantly colored parrots and cockatoos.

Ask More Volunteers For Cancer Drive

First serious attack on Victoria's cancer situation was the description given by Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson of the meeting at the Sirocco Monday evening which launched the city's "Conquer Cancer" campaign.

Dr. Anderson told the meeting funds derived through the campaign would be used in a three-fold attack on the disease. This attack would be through education to make people aware of cancer symptoms, provision of adequate facilities for treatment and increased research into causes and cures.

"A good deal of the funds raised," Dr. Anderson said, "will go towards making treatment available to all those who have treatable cancer regardless of their financial position."

He pointed out that all subscribers would become members of the Victoria unit of the Canadian Cancer Society and would receive literature concerning the disease.

Col. J. Q. Gillan, O.B.E., chairman of the meeting, said the Victoria drive was being sponsored jointly by the Cancer Society and the B.C. Cancer Foundation with headquarters in Vancouver. He pointed out that until now the foundation had been financed through membership fees and donations. All money raised, he said, would be used to fight cancer in the province.

ALL INTERESTED

G. H. Stevens, chairman of the "Conquer Cancer" campaign, told the meeting every citizen was interested in the success of the drive because everyone had had at some time a relative or friend affected by the disease.

Mrs. Arthur Cox, who heads the women's division, stressed there would be no house-to-house canvass. She said that special booths had been set up at David Spencer Ltd., and Hudson's Bay Co. where volunteers would receive subscriptions.

In addition, she said, members of her division had undertaken to make a complete telephone canvass of the city. She said that more women were needed for this work and asked volunteers to call Beacon 3119.

C. C. Annett, who heads the downtown business section, said that nearly every life insurance company had contributed a team for the campaign.

Other division chairmen who reported their groups organized for the drive were C. J. Harrington for special names, G. H. Walton, industrial division, B. W. Weston, provincial government offices, Dr. Richard Felton, civic employees.

C. Heaney, publicity chairman, said copies of a folder outlining cancer facts would be mailed to 28,000 homes in the city. He announced that persons wishing to mail donations should mark their envelopes "Cancer Fund, Victoria."

"Choose to Live,' a film stressing early treatment of the disease, was shown by Charles Marshall of the National Film Board.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Pacific War Film Shows Woman Traitor

Producers William Pine and William Thomas have made a picture as exciting as some of the hottest stories which have rolled off the press. Paramount's "Tokyo Rose," currently at the Dominion Theatre, traces the career of one of history's most notorious women traitors, known as "the female voice of death." A native American, "Tokyo Rose" committed high treason when she became the mouthpiece for the Japs' insidious propaganda directed against fighting Yanks in the Pacific theatre of war. The movie account stars Byron Barr, Osa Massen, Don Douglas, Richard Loo and Lotus Long in the title role.

Charles E. Copeland, Native Son, 71, Dies

Charles Edward Copeland, 71, widely known native son, died at the family residence, 1330 Minto Street, Monday afternoon following an illness of two and one-half months.

The son of a pioneer British Columbia boatman, he was born in Victoria July 26, 1875, and received his education here. As a young man he was an outstanding baseball player with the Capital City team and later was prominent in the affairs of Loyal Order of Moose, in which he held office for several years.

Active in the city's political life, he had been president of Ward Four Liberal Association and served on the central executive on numerous occasions.

Surviving are his widow; five daughters, Miss Winnett Copeland and Mrs. Ruth Wyckoff at the family residence, Mrs. A. H. Stott, Victoria, Mrs. A. G. Oliver, Nanaimo, and Mrs. D. R. Hodgins, Montreal; one son, Charles E. Copeland, Victoria; and six grandchildren. Two sisters reside in the United States.

Funeral service will be conducted in Sands Mortuary Thursday and will be followed by cremation at Royal Oak.

Man Locked 2 Weeks In Refrigerator Car

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Alfred J. Degutis, who told hospital attendants he had been imprisoned in a refrigerator car without food or water for more than two weeks, was treated Monday night after his release from the freight car by Arthur Coty, warehouseman, who heard Degutis kicking inside the car.

Degutis said he entered the car in Auburn the night of May 9 and that a man with whom he had been drinking closed the door on him. Seven days later he said the car was connected to a train. The Northern Pacific freight office added that the car had come from Auburn May 13.

Degutis said he weighed 196 pounds when he entered the car. He weighed 142 pounds when released and had a two-inch growth of beard. He said he lived in Seattle.

Willows Sale Will Give $86,000 For Arena Fund

The sale of Willows Fairgrounds to S. W. Randall of the Colwood Racing Association for $86,000 and on the terms proposed went through without a dissenting voice at Monday's City Council meeting on the recommendation of Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee.

At the same time the council approved placing the $86,000 in the Memorial Arena fund to guarantee sufficient money to complete that building.

Every member of the council spoke strongly in favor of the proposition and Ald. H. M. Diggon raised the question of the banning of the riding academy from the Willows Grounds, saying that he did not like that clause in the agreement.

Ald. Williams and Mayor Percy George both pointed out that this had been inserted because Oak Bay was known to be strongly opposed to having horses stabled on the fairgrounds the year round, but if Mr. Randall was able to make any agreement with Oak Bay whereby that municipality would remove its objections to the riding academy the finance committee would not insist on that clause being in.

PRAISE MAY 24 EVENTS

High praise was given by Mayor George and the aldermen to M. F. Hunter, city clerk, who acted as chairman of the Greater Victoria May 24 celebration committee, and to the Lions Club for staging the May Queen contest, the Fraternal Order of Eagles for the parade, the Native Sons of Canada for the regetta, and all the other individuals and organizations who worked so hard to make the four-day celebration a success. Mr. Hunter was asked to convey the commendation of the council to all who had worked on the various events.

Mayor George announced that the queen float would be entered in the Vancouver July 1 parade if it could be transported to Vancouver on barges.

NO COLOR BAR

On a motion by Ald. Diggon it was decided to inform Crystal Garden that under terms of the agreement whereby the city made tax concessions it is regarded as a public institution, and as such cannot ban any resident or visitor to the city from swimming there because of race or color.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the lands and zoning committee, reported that 23 parcels of land had been sold for a total of $30,377.50. Nine of these were to veterans. Largest single sale was two lots on the corner of Douglas and Herald Streets for $21,000.

A grant of $600 was made to the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau to help expenses of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, the Victoria Boys' Band and the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band to attend the Portland Rose Festival.

The Edmonton Boys' Band, which has 100 members, plus 12 majorettes, will be invited to play at Beacon Hill Park July 4, and a civic supper will be given the band members. They are coming to the coast to participate in Vancouver's July 1 Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

Tenders were received for purchase of the flock of sheep at Macdonald Park. Three hundred dollars was the highest offer received for the sheep.

First reading was given the by-law which will close barber shops in Victoria all day Wednesdays.

Chlorination Issue Continues To Occupy Council Attention

The subject of chlorination continues to bob up at City Council meetings. Monday a letter from Harry Langley, chairman of the anti-chlorination league, took up another 15 minutes of council time which ended with the letter being received and filed.

Ald. Edward Williams protested vehemently that the City Council knew its business better than Mr. Langley, who until a few weeks ago had not been a taxpayer in the city nor on the voters' list.

"We are just as competent to deal with our water system as Mr. Langley and Mr. John Day," Ald. Williams asserted. "I'm getting sick and tired of hearing these people, who don't even pay taxes criticize us and try and tell us we don't know what we're doing about the arena and about our water and various other things."

He indicated he would support a move to put the chlorination question to a referendum in December, because he felt that the education carried on during the past two years to show the people the true picture with regard to the purity of Victoria's water had convinced them of the necessity of chlorination.

Transport Board By-law Delayed By Technicality

Introduction of the by-law which would have been the first step in the creation of a Transportation Board for the Greater Victoria metropolitan and suburban area was held up at Monday's City Council meeting when it was discovered that some of the wording in the agreement between the municipilaties would have to be changed to make the by-law valid.

At the last moment City Solicitor A. J. Patton discovered that the wording the agreement would have delegated council authority to the transportation board, which is not permissible under the Municipal Act, and the agreement had to be changed to make the transportation board, in effect, a standing committee of the four councils.

Because Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria transportation committee, is anxious to have the by-law passed by June 15 so that tenders may be called for the unified transportation system, Mayor Percy George indicated that he would call a special council meeting to deal with the matter.

Once the unified transportation system is working it is anticipated that provincial legislation will be passed setting up the transportation board and giving it the power to handle and distribute money which the municipal councils cannot give it.

Not Enough Action On Amalgamation To Suit Williams

The charge that nothing much is being done to forward the amalgamation movement in Greater Victoria "because we are not working hard enough at it," was made at Monday's City Council meeting by Ald. Edward Williams. "We are no farther advanced towards amalgamation now than we were a year ago, nor than we will be a year or two from now at the rate we're going," he insisted.

The question came up when the council was asked to approve appointment of two officials to investigate all phases of possible amalgamation with the urban portion of Saanich, the financial set-up of both the city and Saanich, costs and responsibilities entailed in amalgamating the two.

Ald. Williams was insistent in knowing why only a portion of Saanich was being considered in this proposal, and not Esquimalt and Oak Bay as well. "Why not the whole of the area at one time," he questioned. "I want to see this amalgamation go through as quickly as possible.

"I think the time has arrived when we should be getting ready to submit a referendum to the people of all four municipalities on this question—this December, if possible," he declared. "We want to know if Esquimalt and Oak Bay are interested in amalgamation."

OAK BAY RELUCTANT

Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the intermunicipal committee, explained that the Saanich question had to be solved first because it is out of the question to consider amalgamation with the whole of that municipality. He expressed the belief that Esquimalt was very interested in amalgamation but that Oak Bay was not.

Ald. H. M. Diggon questioned this, declaring that it could not be said that any municipality was not interested until the full facts had been brought out, and that was the reason for setting up the investigation now. "We must be in a position to tell the people if it is profitable to them to amalgamate or not," he pointed out. "This preliminary survey will save a great deal of time and money later on when we appoint our high-priced expert to make a complete survey."

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar agreed that the Saanich question should be solved first because Esquimalt, Oak Bay and the city were all 85 per cent improved with streets, sewers, lights and other services, while Saanich was in a "chaotic condition."

Protest Subdivision Of Shotbolt Estate

On behalf of the residents in the area, Gillespie, Hart and Co. wrote Monday's City Council meeting protesting the subdivision of the old Shotbolt Estate at the corner of Fairfield and Foul Bay Roads.

The letter contended that cutting this estate into small lots will deteriorate the district and lower value of property in this area, and asked if the council could not take some action to prevent the subdivision.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said that the matter had been before his committee and that the subdivision was being made according to the by-laws of the city, while Ald. Diggon pointed out that most of the lots were considerably larger than the minimum size allowed in the city for residential purposes.

Gyros Hear Policeman

Constable Brooke Douglass of the city police who last week addressed the Kiwanis Club, spoke to the Gyro Club at its luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel Monday on the police traffic check, an international campaign to lessen the number of traffic accidents which is being carried out extensively in Victoria.

The police officer said that emphasis was being made on the checking of brakes, steering gear and headlights, and that he hoped the motoring public of the city would continue to co-operate with the police in their efforts to educate all with safe driving rules.

A film relative to the campaign was presented by C. Marshall, field representative of the National Film Board.

Engineers' Leader Says 40-Hour Week Retards Production

Criticism of the leadership of labor and its demand for a 40-hour week was voiced by J. B. Hayes, president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the institute in Empress Hotel Monday evening.

According to Mr. Hayes, the production of things now needed in Canada can not be maintained on a 40-hour week. Canada was in a transition period where it needed thousands of things it had lacked for years, he said. "Let's produce them."

Mr. Hayes, who is manager of the Nova Scotia Light and Power Co. Ltd., and was head of the A.R.P. in that province during the greater part of the war said Victoria had been in the front line of the war in the same way, Halifax had been.

Today Institute Councillor Kenneth Reid, city electrician, and T. J. Currie, institute councillor in Halifax, poured a bottle of eastern and western waters into the Pacific.

Seek U.S. Stars For B.C. Open Golf Here

Executive committee members of the Uplands Golf Club are a busy group these days as they whip into shape plans for the first peacetime renewal of the B.C. open championship, which has been set for Sept. 12, 13 and 14.

Even at this early stage Gordon Verley, tournament chairman, reports there is ample evidence of considerable interest being shown in the tourney, and prospects are bright for having some of the Pacific Northwest's top flight professionals and amateurs taking part.

An attractive list of prizes has been posted for the medal play tournament, including 10 cash awards for the professionals and a series of attractive prizes for the amateurs.

There will be daily awards for low gross and low net scores on the first two days and on the final day there will be prizes for the first three low gross scores and the first three low nets. Contestants will play 18 holes on each of the first two days and 36 on the closing day.

Chairman Verley reports he and his committee are making a special bid to attract mashie wielders from south of the border for the tourney. In anticipation of a big travel year, notices are being sent well in advance to U.S. clubs of the Pacific Northwest in the hope that many players will plan their holiday trips to coincide with the tournament.

In addition to these, many of the local and mainland sharpshooters who have returned from active service will be in the field, making their first bids in tournament play since discarding their service uniforms in favor of shirts and slacks.

DRAW SUPPORT

Officials of the local club are sparing no effort in making their preparatory plans for the tournament's success and in this connection they have enlisted the support of the other Victoria clubs. Among other things the Uplands 12th green has been reconditioned and the greenkeepers have already started the general conditioning of the whole course.

Complete prize-lists and folders containing full details of the tournament will shortly be available and tournament officials suggest local enthusiasts might secure these for mailing to any of their out-of-town friends who might be interested in taking part.

The B.C. regional body of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association is lending its co-operation to insure the success of the event, according to Chairman Verley.

The tournament will not be without its social side. In addition to a number of private parties which are being planned for the three-day period, a tournament dance on the night of the final day will mark the official wind-up.

Soccer Friday

After several weeks absence, soccer will return to the local sporting scene Friday evening at 6.30 at Macdonald Park when Victoria West, league champs of the first division, battle a picked aggregation from the remainder of the Victoria and District Football League in the Tony Hope Memorial Trophy match.

Changes In Athletics Planned By Directors

Fully realizing that some quick action is necessary to strengthen the position of the Victoria Athletics in the Western International Baseball League, directors of the club plan some changes it was learned today.

At recent meetings the directors laid certain plans but until such time as something definite develops it is impossible to get any statement.

Directors are fully aware of the criticism being lodged by a goodly portion of the fans and are determined to take steps to bolster the Athletics to the point where they will stack up with the other seven clubs in the circuit.

"But until such time as we know where we're going, no statement will be forthcoming," one of the directors said. "However, I would like to say at this time that the directors have been suffering just as much, if not more, than the fans over the poor showing of the Athletics."

Athletics are scheduled to return to the city for their next home stand June 4 with Salem providing the opposition in a seven-game series. There is little doubt the contemplated changes in the club will be made before that time.

Golf Teacher Boffs Pupil; Pays $500

MONTREAL (CP) — Lewis Morris, who tried to show a golf beginner the correct back-swing and succeeding only in striking his pupil a severe blow on head, was ordered Monday by Mr. Justice Louis Loranger to pay $500 damages to the injured man, Isidore Parifsky, who sued for $16,363. The plaintiff said he was knocked unconscious by the golf club, which struck him on the temple.

V.M.D. Register 4th Straight Win In Local Baseball

In a mixture of comedy and errors Victoria Machinery Depot defeated the Eagles 12 to 1 Monday night for their fourth straight victory in the local baseball league.

Amateur clubs will be in action again tonight with the Canadian Legion hooking up with the Navy, starting at 6.30.

Tony Maze was the winning hurler for the V.M.D., but had to pitch a lot of baseball in gaining his triumph. Although the southpaw gave up only three hits, he issued 13 walks and cut loose with five wild heaves.

Bases on balls were a dime a dozen as the shipyarders collected 11 from the joint offerings of Stan Curry and Elliot. They also picked up 10 hits during the two hours and 45 minutes of play.

The three pitchers struck out a total of 22 and walked 24. In additon, the catchers were charged with six passed balls.

Short score follows:

Batteries — Maze and Sutherland; Curry, Elliott (7) and Phillips, Ball (8).

Schmitz Beats Cards

Thanks to southpaw Johnny Schmitz, Chicago Cubs aren't "cousins" to St. Louis Cardinals any more.

Failure of the Bruins to beat the Red Birds more than six times in 22 meetings last season almost cost manager Charley Grimm a pennant. The Cubs may not repeat as National League champions but it's a cinch they'll better their 1945 record against St. Louis with Schmitz doing the bulk of the work.

Chicago has split even in six starts against the Cardinals with Schmitz earning two of the decisions, his latest being a 4 to 1 victory in yesterday's only National League contest. St Louis reached the lean southpaw for only five hits. In 18 inning the pennant favorites have nicked Grimm's new ace for only two runs and 12 hits.

In the American League, Ted Lyon's regime as Chicago White Sox manager continued to produce successes as the Sox reeled off their third straight triumph, trimming St. Louis, 9 to 2.

With Luke Appling's four blows leading the attack, the Sox buried the Brownies under a 20-hit barrage while Ed Lopat coasted home to his third verdict. Lopat had a shut-out up to the eighth.

Athletics Drop Another Game To Wenatchee

WENATCHEE, Wash. — Continuing to be the doormat of the Western International League, Victoria Athletics dropped their 12th game in 14 with the Wenatchee Chiefs here last night, 11 to 5. Victory bolstered the Wenatchee club's hold on first place as all other six teams in the circuit had an off night.

Bob Jensen who had beaten Wenatchee in two previous starts this season was the victim of last night's setback. The big right hander was shellacked off the mound after three innings on the strength of home runs by Jim Warner, Ernie Bertalotti and Eddie Fitzgerald. Rudy Biale, who replaced him, also served up home run balls to Warner and Curt Schmidt in the eighth inning.

Eddie Green, Wenatchee right hander, struck out 16 in registering his second victory over Athletics in a week. He gave up eight hits.

This week's games find Victoria invading Spokane; Vancouver at Salem and Wenatchee at Bremerton.

Dick Burton Plays Nelson Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Smiling and affable and apparently unruffled by the prospect of practically jumping off a ship into a 36-hole challenge golf match with such a worthy opponent as Byron Nelson, the British open champion, Dick Burton, arrived Monday on the Gripsholm after 10 days at sea.

He and Nelson will play the first 18 holes of their match over the Charles River Country Club course at Newton, Mass., tomorrow, and the final 18 as part of the Goodall round robin tournament at the Winged Foot Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y., Thursday.

Hoyle-Brown Edge Legion In 11-Frame Fastball Battle

Coach Wally Smith's Canadian Legion senior A men fastballers are starting to get into stride after a poor start. This was evidenced Monday night when they put up a great fight over an 11-inning route before bowing to Lloyd Jones' Hoyle-Brown nine, 6 to 5.

The victory rocketed the Hoyle-Browners into the leadership berth of the three-team top circuit. Their record to date is four wins in five engagements. Ciro's are riding the second berth with three wins in four starts. Legion have not made the win column in five games, but last night they served notice that they are going to make things a lot tougher in future.

It was "Red" Palmer's bingle in the last of the 11th that allowed Hoyle-Brown to push across the winning run.

It was a tough one to lose for Legionnaires. They established an early 3 to 0 lead, but by the end of the fifth were trailing, 5 to 4. They came back in the first of the seventh to even things and force the game into extra innings.

Ted Minnis heaved eight-hit ball for the Legion in going the distance. Hoyle-Brown started Tenning but replaced him with Martin in the eighth. Eleven hits were got from the pair. Each team was marked for three errors.

Playing at Sidney, Walter Yeamans' Hopefuls came through with a 6 to 2 victory over the suburban nine. In other senior games, Hudson's Bay girls took an 8 to 3 decision from Adverts, and Army and Navy Taxi defeated R.C.N.A.D., 34 to 3, in a senior B men's meeting. Hoyle-Brown emerged victors by an 8 to 5 count over Athletics, and Black and Whites took Page Cleaners into camp, 18 to 7, in juvenile tussles.

Anglers' Meeting

Important matters dealing with the forthcoming salmon derby season, to open June 30 in Saanich Inlet waters, will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association Thursday

Lacrosse Clubs Swing Into Action At Willows Shortly

Box lacrosse will make its return appearance before Victoria fans in a short while with the main building at the Willows the scene of action.

This was learned today from Doug Fletcher, president of the Victoria Box Lacrosse Association, following announcement of yesterday's approval of the sale of the grounds to Sam Randall of Vancouver. Fletcher hopes to start the clubs rolling in a couple of weeks.

He said that the city has authorized the B.C. Agricultural Association to go ahead with any improvements to the lighting arrangement of the main building, as demanded by the B.C. fire marshal, with the assurance the city will recompense the association for money spent in this connection. It is figured that boxla gates will eventually make up for the improvement costs.

The association has four senior squads, Jokers, Foul Bay, Alerts and Canadian Legion, ready for action. The president said there is the possibility the R.C.N. may apply for entry in the senior circuit.

There are also three junior clubs ready to swing into action and a pair of juvenile units.

Veteran U.S. Senator, Carter Glass, 88, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Carter Glass of Virginia died early today at his apartment in the Mayflower Hotel. Oldest member of the U.S. Senate, he was in his 89th year.

His physician, Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn, attributed death to "congestive heart failure." He had been ill for several years. His last appearance on the Senate floor was in June, 1942.

The veteran Democrat was chairman of the appropriations committee and had been in Congress since 1902, with the exception of a few years out as Secretary of the Treasury under Woodrow Wilson.

Butchers Welcome More Meat, Regret Price Margin Cut

Satisfaction that better beef is now available appeared today to counterbalance dissatisfaction with the increased wholesale price of the two top grades, as Victoria butchers paid from one to 1¾ cents a pound more following removal by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board of the wholesale price ceilings on the two grades.

Packing house managers said the price increase on red and blue brand beef was justified in view of an advance of half a cent a pound for live cattle on the Calgary market Monday. The advance of half a cent live weight was equivalent to a cent dressed, they said.

Whether further increases would be made depended entirely on whether the half-cent advance drew enough meat to the market, the packers stated.

"I don't see that the wholesale price increase makes very much difference," one retailer said. "We've been taking the rap for months, unable to get enough meat. Yesterday we had to buy the top grades of beef, because there was no other in town, but for weeks we couldn't get the top grades.

"If the wholesale price advanced four cents," he continued, "we should have to close up. But meanwhile, we are better off making even a little than we should be closed."

Another butcher said it appeared the increase would not affect him too badly for a time, at any rate.

"As long as we can break even, we won't kick," he said.

Most dealers, wholesale and retail, believed the suspension of the wholesale ceilings on the top grades of beef would result in an increased supply of beef to the market.

Department Surveys Veterans' Housing

A survey of war veterans' housing needs on Vancouver Island is being conducted by the Department of Veterans' Affairs through Emergency Shelter Administration and other organizations, it was learned today, and a report likely will be drawn up shortly.

The survey is part of a nation-wide investigation being made by the department to obtain a comprehensive picture of the number of war veterans inadequately housed. When the information is obtained, according to the department at Ottawa, recommendations will be made to the proper authorities.

Hurschman Crowned B.C. Golf Champion

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lyle Hurschman, a comparative newcomer to golf, captured the British Columbia amateur tourney Monday when he defeated Canadian amateur champion Kenny Black 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final at the Point Grey course here.

Participating in his first B.C. amateur, Hurschman turned in a neat display of cool green work in holding a one-hole lead in the 18-hole morning round and then extending it during the afternoon.

Only a few fans were out to see the pair tee off on the soggy course.

Hurschman had been the surprise throughout the tourney. With only three years of golfing experience, he disposed of highly-touted Hugh Morrison, Vancouver link champion, as well as Monty Hill and Walt McAlpine. He qualified for the finals with a 3 and 1 win over 17-year-old Bill Mawhinney.

Body Of Mussolini Gone In Stolen Plane?

ROME (AP) — A savoia-Marchetti transport was stolen from an airport near Milan Monday and a dispatch to the Rome newspaper Espresso suggested the big plane might have carried away the body of Mussolini — possibly to Spain.

Five men in flying suits, arriving a half hour before the regular crew was due, calmly warmed up the three-engined plane and took off.

Airdrome officials said the transport had enough fuel for a trip to Spain.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Affairs Writer

Nothing could emphasize more forcefully the stalemate between Russia and the Western Allies than Foreign Minister Molotov's blunt charge that a British American "bloc" waged an offensive against his country at the recent conference of Big Four Foreign Ministers of Britain, the United States and France in Paris.

Mr. Molotov's statement seems, at least in part, an answer to State Secretary Byrnes' announcement of policy a week ago in Washington. That announcement, which signalled a stiffening of American foreign policy, made this point.

"We (the United States) must not try to impose our will on others, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression that they can impose their will on us."

The Soviet Foreign Minister has this to say:

"Certainly no self-respecting allied state will allow the will of another state to be imposed upon it. The Soviet Union is just one of such states, while it has sufficiently demonstrated its desire for co-ordinated actions with other countries, both in the time of war (for the sake of an Allied victory) and after the war (for the sake of lasting peace and the security of nations)."

Mr. Molotov then makes an oblique approach to the burning question among western diplomats and other observers whether Russia is going beyond the needs of security in the expansion of its zones of influence. His answer is to inquire "what interests of the United States dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland."

What hope is there of reaching such treaty agreement among the Big Four with all these suspicions about? Most certainly the doubts will have to be removed before progress can be made. But how? The Big Four Foreign Ministers are deadlocked; the Security Council has been dangerously bogged down more than once.

Since all else has failed, why not try the idea which many observers have advocated? Why can't the chiefs of state of Russia, Britain and the United States get together and see if they aren't able to clear the atmosphere?

7 Of Oldest Senators Present At Sitting

OTTAWA (CP)—Something of a record was set by veteran senators Monday night when a group of seven with an average age of more than 83 years atended a Senate sitting.

They were: Senators Sir Allen Aylesworth, 91; Sir Thomas Chapais, 88; H. A. Mullins, 84; R. F. Green, 84; Donald Sutherland, 83; J. J. Donnelly, 79, and J. A. Calder, 77.

Blames Strike On Court Appearance

Blaming the woodworkers' strike on his predicament, a truck driver refused to pay a $10 fine and instead went to jail for three days after appearing in city police court today for not having a license plate on his vehicle.

A wood-hauler ordinarily, the trucker said he had taken a job carrying sawdust to keep working while the strike is in progress. To haul the sawdust he had to remove the tail-gate of his truck on which the license plate was fastened.

"That's no excuse," said Magistrate Henry C. Hall. "You must at all times display the plate."

"I'll take the three days then," replied the truck driver.

"Thanks to you, Grandpa Kruschen . . .

I'm Now Relieved of Rheumatic Pain"

Too bad this man didn't begin the saline treatment for his rheumatic pains when they first started. It is fortunate for him that he got relief when the pain had become acute. Here's his story:—

"I now feel as fit as a fiddle and I cannot praise Kruschen too much. Before taking Kruschen my rheumatic pains were pretty bad. I began to worry about my job and the children. But I got a tip to try Kruschen. After taking the first bottle I felt better. Since then I have had two more bottles and I now enjoy my work: for I have no aches or pains . . . thanks to Kruschen."—Mr. A. H.

You will note that once Mr. A. H. started the Kruschen saline treatment he stayed with it. Follow his example if you too are bothered with rheumatic pains, lumbago or sciatic pains. Take Kruschen faithfully, as long as you feel it is needed. Give it a chance to help overcome conditions in your body which have probably taken months to develop. If you are like many other sufferers, you will notice a gradual improvement in your health and a lessening of pain as you continue the treatment. Just take a pinch of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing in the morning, as long as needed, and Mr. A. H. joins with us in wishing you a speedy return to your old, pain-free self!

Normandy Campaign Fought Out Exactly As Planned, Says Monty

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON (CP)—The outstanding point about the Battle of Normandy—centre of considerable controversy among military analysts—was that it was fought exactly as planned before the invasion, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery says in his new, privately-distributed book on Western Front operations of the 21st Army Group entitled "Normandy to Baltic."

This flat statement by the British commander is supported by abundant evidence in his accurate chronicle and disposes of criticism that the bloody actions fought by Canadian and British troops in the Caen sector were "a failure."

Although the book was written before publication of Lt.-Col. Ralph Ingersoll's "Top Secret," it is a convincing answer to the particular charge of the New York editor that there was "failure" at Caen, pivot of the whole Normandy campaign.

Lt.-Col. Ingersoll, publisher of the newspaper PM, was a liaison officer between British and U.S. commands during the fighting in western Europe. In "Top Secret" he criticizes Field Marshal Montgomery and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander at that time, and praises Gen. Omar Bradley, chief United States army commander in the field.

DREW NAZI RESERVES

Once Allied troops were ashore and firmly established, Lord Montgomery's plan was to threaten to break out of the initial bridgehead on the eastern flank of the enemy at Caen. The British leader was at that time in command of all British, Canadian and U.S. ground forces.

He intended by means of this threat to draw main enemy reserves into that sector, to fight them there and keep them there, using the 1st Canadian Army and the British 2nd Army for this purpose.

Having committed the main enemy reserves on the eastern flank, his plan was then to break out of the western flank, using Gen. Bradley's U.S. armies, and pivoting the whole front on Caen.

The capture of Cherbourg and the Brittany Peninsula and the opening of ports there meant the Allied forces were required to make rapid territorial gains in the west. On the eastern flank at Caen, the acquisition of ground was not too pressing.

TACTICS EXPLAINED

One-half of the 279-page book, which the Canadian Press obtained for review, is devoted to the Normandy campaign. It explains strategy and tactics in detail as they were employed to draw German forces to the Caen hinge, where they were held in bitter and prolonged fighting while United States forces broke loose to the west at St. Lo according to plan.

While no direct quotations were permitted from the book—at present exclusively for high-ranking officers—this is the Normandy plan set down in the book by Lord Montgomery as he explained it to senior British, Canadian and United States officers at a conference in London April 7, 1944, two months before D-Day.

Lord Montgomery says in his book that he never once had cause or reason to alter the plan and added that an understanding of the Normandy battle essentially requires this fact to be appreciated.

Victoria Blue Baby To Stay Four More Weeks In Hospital

Doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, expect a long recovery period, with at least four more weeks in hospital, will be necessary for Janet, the Victoria "blue baby" who underwent a delicate heart operation early this month.

A message from her father received here today said the little girl had been put back in the critical room last Thursday and that she would be under oxygen for several more days.

Further information received in a letter from her mother today was that a massive pneumothorax of the right lung caused the baby to be moved back to the critical room.

Written Saturday, the letter stated that Janet would remain in an oxygen tent for several days longer as her breathing had been shallow and labored.

The doctors were confident of Janet's recovery, although she had had "just about every complication."

At the time the letter was written the little girl's temperature was beginning to drop from 103.

Caterpillar Spray Poisoning No Danger To Strawberry Eaters

Victorians, who are going to get only a couple of feeds of fresh strawberries next month anyway, need have no fears of lead arsenate poisoning from the sprays being used to combat caterpillars.

Dr. William Newton of the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanichton today made these points:

1. While some berrygrowers have sprayed, there is no evidence to support the contention that damage to strawberry and other bushes has yet been general or extensive.

2. Fruitgrowers should use calcium arsenate rather than lead arsenate when spraying trees on which the fruit has already formed.

3. Not more than one or two sprayings would be necessary to combat the caterpillars and most of the spray would be washed off by rains between spray-time and harvesting.

4. In the Okanagan Valley, where there is less rain than here, up to 12 arsenate sprays have been used, yet the fruit on assay contained less than the quantity of poison at which the Dominion government requires washing.

5. The caterpillar epidemic now has passed its peak in his opinion.

Despite all this data, Dr. Newton said no pathologist would recommend lead arsenate spray for fruit, mainly because lead poisoning is accumulative. That is a person may become poisoned by taking quantities which are so small they would cause no danger but over a period of time they would cause injury.

While not wishing to estimate the tonnage of this season's crop, Dr. Newton indicated it would be very small, the bulk of it would go to the local fresh fruit market, with perhaps the last few pickings going to the canneries and jam factories.

So Victorians will not get more than a couple of feeds of strawberries and they won't see much strawberry jam next winter.

Municipal Officers Meet Monday

An address by Col. F. T. Fairey, deputy minister of education, on the "Cameron Report" will be one of the features of the two-day conference of the Municipal Officers' Association held here next Monday and Tuesday.

R. C. MacDonald, Minister of Municipal Affairs; B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipal affairs; and Mayor Percy George will be at the opening of the conference Monday morning, and Prof. J. C. Taylor will give an address.

The afternoon session will be taken up with the discussion of the Cameron Report.

Tuesday morning Pitcairn Hogg, K.C., will speak on "Pitfalls of Municipal By-laws," and in the afternoon R. F. Blandy will give a report on superannuation, followed by E. W. Griffiths speaking on "Social Service Regulations."

The conference will close Tuesday evening when the provincial government tenders a dinner at the Empress Hotel to the delegates. Hon. R. C. MacDonald will preside.

Cab Driver Claims Avoided Other Car In Damage Action

Opening the case for the defence in the suit of Kathleen Brackner for $10,000 general damages against Margaret Rhodes of the Beacon Taxi, Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., in Supreme Court here today, said that the car in which the plaintiff alleged she was injured was traveling at 30 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

George Haslam, driver of the car, who with Cecil Rhodes and William Heller has been named co-defendant in the action, told the court that he had picked up four passengers, including Miss Brackner, at the Half-Way House on the evening of the accident in April, 1945.

Haslam testified he had taken them to a Fort Street address where they secured a bottle and then had started to drive them to the Four-Mile House. He maintained that he had refused to drive faster when one of the passengers had urged him to do so on Craigflower Road.

The accident, he said, had occurred when he had swerved into loose gravel to avoid a car approaching on Craigflower Road in the opposite direction. He told the court he had failed to apply the brakes for fear of skidding in the gravel.

With Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, members of the court Monday visited the bedside of Miss Brackner in St. Joseph's Hospital, where she has been confined since the accident. A visit to the scene of the accident was also made by the court.

The plaintiff has listed a fractured hip, broken pelvis bone, severe bruises, shock and nervous injuries which she claims were a result of the mishap.

Shorter Work Week

A delegation of the B.C. Firefighters' Association today met the provincial cabinet asking that the Firemen's Hours of Work Act be proclaimed for July 1.

The act, passed some time ago by the B.C. legislature, was to come into effect one year after the conclusion of the war. The delegation, which was told by the cabinet that its representations would receive consideration, wanted the act to be proclaimed for July 1, the date the 44-hour work week law comes into effect.

The delegation was headed by J. Lusse, president of the association.

No Provincial Control Campaign For Caterpillars

The provincial Department of Agriculture is taking no action to assist in the control of the tent caterpillar plague, W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist, informed the City Council today.

In the organized districts it is a matter for the municipalities to deal with, Mr. Robertson said, and "in the unorganized districts the infestation is probably at the present time at its peak and we are advised by the entomologist that the infestation insofar as the future is concerned, will undoubtedly be on the decrease."

Mayor Percy George said today that he had received a number of phone calls and an anonymous letter protesting the city threatening to impose a fine on private property holders who did not control the caterpillars on their own property, while there are still caterpillars on city-owned lots.

Mayor George pointed out that the city has 4,000 vacant lots to spray in addition to all parks and boulevards, and the power sprayer is on the job every daylight hour, using 800 to 1,000 gallons of arsenate of lead daily. "We cannot do the entire city simultaneously," he declared. "But the individual property owner or tenant can look after his one lot."

New Air Service Now

Directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, meeting this morning, went on record asking that Trans-Canada Air Lines immediately commence operation of a Victoria-Seattle air service.

Disturbed by reports T.C.A. would not inaugurate the service before this fall, the directors pointed out Victoria would be isolated from Seattle for the summer tourist season, so far as air travel was concerned, if T.C.A. did not take steps to put the flights into operation now.

"It is one of the important factors to the life of Victoria," George I. Warren, commissioner, said. "The public is waiting anxiously for T.C.A. to start. We do not want the service to start next year, we want it now"

Want Council To Press Improvements At Ogden Piers

The Chamber of Commerce has written the City Council asking for support in representations recently made to the C.N.R. to have Odgen Point Piers improved so that ocean-going vessels may dock there.

The chamber directors also expressed the opinion "that an immediate start should be made in developing Victoria's harbor" and asked that the City Council forward information as to when any improvements recommended by the council committee will be started.

Correspondence with R. C. Vaughan, president of the C.N.R., was enclosed, and Mr. Vaughan claimed that responsibility for improvement of Ogden Point Piers was with the Dominion government.

Cities Oppose Lift Of Price Ceilings

VANCOUVER (CP) — City of Vancouver may join in a Dominion-wide municipal drive to induce the Dominion government to reintroduce price ceilings on basic commodities.

City Council yesterday referred to its markets committee a resolution from Winnipeg Council urging return to the price ceiling system on necessities of life, and continuance of "ceilings" as long as such goods are scarce.

Copies of the resolution are being sent to all leading Canadian cities with the request that it be endorsed and forwarded to Ottawa.

A resolution preamble pointed out the government has removed "ceilings" on more than 300 articles and that this policy is bringing about price increases.

It adds that such a policy, while the government's wage ceilings are still in effect, will "gravely deteriorate living standards of wage earners."

Victoria City Council at Monday's meeting endorsed the Winnipeg resolution and will forward a copy of it to the Dominion government.

Calgary Herald Heavily Reduced

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Herald said in a newspage story today:

"The Herald appears today in abbreviated form.

"Because of the loggers' strike in British Columbia newsprint supplies to all Alberta newspapers are dwindling. In a few days, if the strike continues, there will be no further shipments of newsprint to this province.

"In the meantime, as a service to readers, the Herald will use available reserves of newsprint to publish a small paper, making those reserves last as long as possible.

"In the belief that many people in the Calgary district would want us to continue some skeletonized advertising, the Herald will carry a portion of the classified section, and, starting Wednesday, condensed copy for local retail merchants.

"It will not be possible to continue national advertising until newsprint becomes available again."

Spain Claims Right To Work On Atom

MADRID (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Ministry said today Spain has a "perfect right" to investigate atomic energy and "cannot recognize the competence" of the United Nations in matters affecting Spain.

The ministry distributed a 700-word statement described as a "report of statements made this morning by a Foreign Ministry spokesman."

The statement said the Spanish position was made clear in notes distributed to foreign missions here May 23. It continued:

"Although the Spanish government like all other countries, has a perfect right to provide itself with adequate means for national defence, including investigations of atomic energy, diplomatic missions accredited in Madrid have proof of the falsity of statements that such investigations are being made.

Kenneth Thomas Bayers was fined $35 and was prohibited from driving for three months when he appeared in city police court today for sentence after being convicted Monday of a dangerous driving charge.

A tag day to raise funds in aid of merchant seamen will be held by the Victoria Connaught Seamen's Institute June 1. Mrs. J. Watson, manageress of the institute, will convene the tag day with headquarters at 916 Government Street.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Conspiracy Charge Against Rose, M.P., Must Go To Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — The defence lost in Court of King's Bench today a spirited legal battle to have quashed the indictment of Fred Rose on charges of conspiracy.

After a morning of argument by defence counsel for the Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament, Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure ruled against two motions to quash the indictment.

He held that no authorization was needed for the conspiracy count against the Polish-born Rose, who watched the fight of his counsel, on his behalf, from the prisoners' box.

Joseph Cohen, K.C., chief of the defence counsel, had contended that the authorization under which Rose was charged was "insufficient and thus invalid" in that it did not give specific dates and places where the alleged acts of conspiracy had been committed.

Earlier the defence also had moved for quashing of the indictment on the grounds that it referred to alleged substantive offences in contravention of the Official Secrets Act.

Mr. Cohen argued that a conspiracy count must be complete in itself.

He argued the preferred indictment as read was not exactly as drafted by the provincial attorney-general on the authorization of the federal attorney-general.

The judge ruled that the alleged substantive offences previously outlined in the indictment could be repeated by the clerk in the conspiracy count with the words "to wit," thus making the conspiracy count specific against Rose.

Up to the end of March, the B.C. Committee of the Save the Children Fund has raised $5,500.

In the foreign market German potash issues were well supported. One or two oil shares showed some improvement while among Mines San Francisco Mines of Mexico were a feature at 24 shillings 9 pence.

Among industrials iron and steel issues were mostly fractionaly easier. Giltedges were dull.

Navy Air Arm Needs Experienced Men In Maintenance Work

With two large aircraft carriers now on its strength, the Royal Canadian Navy is concentrating on filling of senior aircraft maintenance berths, according to personnel officials at naval service headquarters in Ottawa.

There has also been a satisfactory flow of new recruits to fill the lower brackets on the maintenance side.

The Canadian Fleet Air Arm is counting on rounding out the crews of its carriers and shore establishments from the thousands of Canadians whose previous experience has equipped them to handle the responsible jobs and to whom enlistment in the navy will mean automatic rating on the level of their trade qualifications.

Seattle Plane Service Delayed

Trans-Canada Air Lines' plans to inaugurate a Victoria-Seattle air service in June have been held up for lack of delivery of planes and indications now are the air line will start flights later in the fall.

License to operate the service was secured some time ago.

No word has yet been received at local offices on the actual date when the service will begin and no opening date has been announced for T.C.A.'s new offices here.

Pamir Returning

The last of the four-masted barques, the Pamir, which last sailed into B.C. waters in November, is returning here.

The 40-year-old Swedish-built sailing vessel left this coast on Jan. 5 this year on what was to have been her final trip before becoming a trainng ship for New Zealand naval cadets.

On her last voyage here the Pamir was scheduled to rendezvous with a tug from Island Tug and Barge Ltd., but a storm prevented a tow-line being taken aboard and the barque put to sea again while the tug stood by for the weather to clear.

She is a 331-foot vessel with a 46-foot beam and her gross tonnage is 3,202.

Normally the B.C. shipments would have been moved by water.

One Woman's Day

HUNGER HAZARD

SCARCELY A DAY PASSES that doesn't bring news bulletins to remind us that hunger presents a serious hazard to peace.

And that one of the best breeding places for war is to be found among half-starved people who, in sheer desperation, will follow any political quack or power-seeking upstart who promises to lead them out of the wilderness into a land of plenty.

It has been so since the primitive days when man looked for the promised land.

But it has been intensified since the march of civilization divided the world at the crossroads into the "have" and "have-not" nations.

Today, modern warfare through its terrible engines of destruction has placed many a once prosperous nation among the "have-nots."

PRIMITIVE METHODS

YOU DON'T HAVE to search far back into history to realize that when there isn't enough food to go around the problem of who shall eat is likely to be settled by primitive methods.

That is why the problem of starving Europe and Asia is more than just a moral challenge to us "haves" on this side of the world. It imperils our own peace and health.

Our readiness to share what we have may not only save others from starving, it may head off revolutions and wars.

It may, too, serve to head off the plagues and diseases which follow that other dread member of the Four Horsemen—famine.

MUST SHARE OURS

SO, IF ONLY AS A MATTER of self-protection, Canadians are being urged to share of their bounty with others less fortunate, are being asked to buy sparingly, to store carefully—but not to hoard—and to use thriftily.

There's an old Scottish proverb to the effect that "Mony a mickle meks a muckle." It's the aggregate of all the small savings which counts.

Which explains why a single slice of bread wasted in every Canadian household adds up to 2,800 bushels of wheat, 634 barrels of flour, or over 117,000 loaves!

A one-ounce reduction in the amount of meat you give your family would mean little to them. Yet if each Canadian family used just one ounce less per day, it would mean over 600 tons of meat for the starving peoples of Europe.

THOSE WASTED ROLLS

INCIDENTALLY, in the face of that bread computation, I wonder why restaurants make a practice of putting out rolls for every customer?

Half the time they are broken and only half eaten. The eating of rolls with a full meal is largely a matter of habit. It isn't necessary. So why not do the same as with sugar, and give them only when asked for?

It wouldn't hurt us, any more than the slimness—or non-appearance—of the butter portion has. In fact, the result might be good for our figures.

Nor would it hurt us to make a practice of cleaning up our plates. Smaller servings wouldn't entail any sacrifice on our part, either, especially those in sedentary occupations.

And, except for hollow-legged teen-agers, we might well cut out all unnecessary eating between meals, too.

THOSE UNUSED COUPONS

IN VIEW OF THE foregoing, I am glad to see that the generous and voluntary movement started by a few Victoria women in turning in their unused meat ration coupons has spread to Dominion-wide proportions.

I wrote of it in this column some months ago and was immediately bombarded with letters from others eager to help.

Now it has been officially recognized by the federal government, which has enlisted the services of the Red Cross as a voluntary collecting agency.

Brig. W. K. G. Colquhoun, C.B.E., M.C., who recently returned from service overseas where he saw what real hunger means, is the chairman of the local collection committee.

So if you have any valid meat ration coupons you can spare turn them in to him without delay at the Red Cross office, 602 Broughton Street.

And you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your coupons will at once be used to free meat shipments to the United Kingdom, through the Canadian Meat Board.
